Ricardo among ‘America’s Best Management Consulting Firms 2021’ for sixth year in a row

For the sixth year in succession Ricardo Strategic Consulting has been cited by Forbes among America’s leading management consultants – from a field of more than 50,000 firms active within the US market

Ricardo can reveal today that for the sixth year in a row, it is included in Forbes’ America’s Best Management Consulting Firms, a list identifying which management consultancies are providing business sectors with the best guidance on their practice. To compile this list of America’s Best Management Consulting Firms, Forbes collaborated with online statistics provider Statista. Some 7,500 partners and executives of management consultancies were surveyed, as well as 1,000 senior executives who worked with such firms over the last four years.

Ricardo Strategic Consulting is the global management consulting subsidiary of Ricardo, serving in particular the automotive and transportation industries. It offers a comprehensive portfolio of management consulting services, advises global leaders on high-impact global strategic issues and solves operational challenges at every stage of the value chain.

“We are incredibly honored to have been once again named by Forbes as one of the “Best Management Consulting Firms in 2021,” commented Derek Schlonsky, President of Ricardo Strategic Consulting North America. “Ricardo Strategic Consulting takes great pride in building collaborative, constructive client partnerships to meet their enterprise goals, while delivering clear, actionable insights which drive our customers' strategy, productivity and growth. We continue to lean on our unique value proposition of being on cutting edge of technology in the transportation market, and to receive this type of feedback directly from our customers reinforces this approach. This prestigious award is truly a testament to the hard work, dedication, and continued thought leadership that our RSC team exudes in serving our partners around the world.”
